DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in the reply filed on 7/1/10 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that operation of the installation of claim 1 would necessarily result in the method of claim 50. This is not found persuasive because as shown in the prior Action, the claims are distinct, since the apparatus can be used to practice another electrolysis treatment.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

Claim Objections

Claims 27-30, 45-46 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c), as being of improper dependent form for failing to further limit the subject matter of a previous claim. Applicant is required to cancel the claim(s), or amend the claim(s) to place the claim(s) in proper dependent form, or rewrite the claim(s) in independent form. The claims are apparatus claims, accordingly, the functional limitations fail to structurally further limit the claims from which they depend.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 26-31, 33-47 and 49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bodger et al. (Bodger), U.S. Patent 5,851,375 in view of Igarashi, U.S. Patent 6,706,168.

The Bodger patent disclose an installation for the treatment of water, comprising a treatment component having an internal passage through which water may flow and electrodes connected to an electric current source, characterized in that at least one electrically insulating pip allowing for water to flow therethrough provided with electrodes whereby water flowing therethrough may be subjected to an electric current thereby to destroy live organisms therein (see figure 1, and col. 4, line 45 to col. 5, line 5). The patent further discloses the use of AC (see col. 4, lines 1-45) the exact phase of the would have been within the skill of the ordinary artisan.

The Bodger patent fails to disclose the plurality of pipes, the size of the pipes or the arrangement of the pipes within a "coat".

The Igarashi patent discloses the modification to use a plurality electrodes and cells as claimed, wherein the patent uses a plurality of pipe shaped electrodes to obtain the benefits of using such a multiple arrangement (see col. 5, lines 1-33). The patent further teaches when the plural cells are used, they are attached together, which would be encompassed by the "coat".

It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Bodger by the teachings of Igarashi.

One having ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this modification, because the Igarashi patent teaches the pluralization of electrochemical cells to obtain more efficient treatment thereof. Further limitations to the size and arrangement have been well settled to be within the purview of the ordinary artisan, unless such modification produces an unexpected result.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 32 and 48 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: none of the prior art of record fairly discloses the claimed structure including an electrical plug and socket mounted on said coat part and said bundle of pipes and wherein movement of said coat part causes the electrical connection to be broken.
